Mission:
To bring healthcare education to local communities

Goal:
To facilitate the exchange of educational resources between healthcare organizations and the Boy Scouts of America and the Girl Scouts of America

Introduction

From coast to coast each year, hundreds of thousands of people are injured and neither receive adequate nor proper care. First aid instruction saves valuable time, human resources, and lives. Knowledge of first aid equips people to be prepared for medical emergencies. The challenge encountered today is to educate society in order to save more lives. Healthcare organizations have many resources available to educate the public. Other community organizations like the Boy Scouts of America and the Girl Scouts of America (collectively referred to as Scouts) have national organizational structures that reach large demographics. In order to share healthcare resources and educate the community at large, the First Aid Discovery (FAD) functions as a national platform for community service.

What is First Aid Discovery (FAD)? FAD is a national platform that bridges scouting needs with healthcare organization goals. FAD provides a step-by-step guide for healthcare organizations, in collaboration with other community groups like the Scouts, to offer First Aid training. These healthcare organizations include but are not limited to, the American Red Cross, the American Heart Association, the National Safety Council, MayoClinic, National Student Nurses Association, Georgia Association of Nursing Students, Phi Delta Epsilon (pre-medical students), hospitals, community clinics, nursing programs at universities, nursing faculty, and student nurses. With the help of these organizations, the Scouts have registered counselors to teach First Aid according to their national standards for rank advancement and merit badge requirements. Thus, healthcare organizations can train and save many lives by teaching first aid to scouts nationally.
The Tools:
Boy Scouts Merit Badge Series First Aid Handbook, Girl Scouts First Aid Packet, and event management at MeritBadge.info.

The Boy Scouts Merit Badge Series First Aid Handbook and the Girl Scouts First Aid Packet are integral requirements necessary to earn their respective First Aid Badge or Patch. First Aid badges and patches are required by both BSA and GSA to earn their Eagle Rank and Gold Award. Thus, classes are in high demand and will fill-up fairly quickly.

The website MeritBadge.info is an online registration system that allows scouts around the country to find upcoming merit badge and scouting related training opportunities while tracking their progress. Similarly, it allows healthcare organizations offering scout training, such as FAD, to instantly list, promote, and manage a First Aid training event for FREE. MeritBadge.info is the logistical bridge between the healthcare organization resources and the individuals in search of such resources.
How to Setup and Manage a First Aid Discovery Event for the Boy and Girl Scouts

By Rodrigo Cano, BSA Foothills District, Atlanta Area Council

Edited by Lady Mendez, KSU SNA VP/GANS BTN and David Cano, Eagle Scout and member of Phi Delta Epsilon

Setting up and managing a Boy and Girl Scout event is a fun and rewarding experience. For many boys and girls it is an invaluable advancement and training opportunity that serves them for life; First Aid is an Eagle required Merit Badge for Boy Scouts, and it is also required for the Girl Scout Gold Award. The following guidelines may assist you in your quest to provide a successful event.

1. Submit your First Aid Discovery event idea to your respective organizational programing committee.
2. Obtain your organization’s support.
3. Secure your event location. For example, business locations, schools, colleges, universities, and church classrooms are ideal.
4. Long term planning is vital to a successful event. Set registration deadlines well ahead of event dates. It is recommended that event publication be at a minimum of 3 months prior or up to a year before event date.
5. DO NOT accept WALK-INS after the registration deadline so as to ensure readiness for class instructions.
6. Recruit expert merit badge counselors, such as trained healthcare organization members.
7. Make sure all instructors are Registered Merit Badge Counselors with your local Boy Scout Council and are fully trained in the ways of Scouting to include, Youth Protection Training.
8. We may email class information prior to the merit badge event. In the spirit of BSA Youth Protection guidelines, please provide an email address for the Scouts parents rather than the individual Scout. The Scoutmaster should not use his email address to register all boys in his troop.
9. Have at least 4 planning meetings with counselors prior to event date.
10. Recruit support personnel to assist with check-in and class rotation during the event day.
11. Promote your Merit Badge Program with local Boy and Girl Scout troops, districts, and councils.
12. Search for your local Boy Scout council by zip code: Local Council Locator.
13. Search for your local Girl Scout council by zip code: Local Council Finder.
14. MeritBadge.info has a national outreach. Use it to setup, publish, and manage your merit badge events, for FREE. Help video files are located online.
15. Pre-register participating Scouts online, check-in and checkout Scouts by troop. This cuts down on labor.
16. Review all event logistics and keep it safe.
17. Set up a first aid station for larger groups.
18. Run your merit badge program and give emphasis to FUN and QUALITY.
   For Boy Scouts: return properly filled-in blue cards to Scouts on the day of the event.
   For Girl Scouts: provide training records on the day of the event.
19. Solicit feedback from event attendees.
20. Keep your finances in perfect order. Run reports and communicate back to your organization in a timely manner.
21. When ready to retire, find and train your next EVENT MANAGER.

First Aid Discovery for Boy Scouts

Requirements:
The Boy Scout First Aid program requires counselors and volunteers to review the Merit Badge Series First Aid Handbook. The handbook can be purchased at any Boy Scout store or online. A downloadable worksheet is also available: PDF, DOC. Once counselors have read and understood the material within the handbook, they are to create an interactive course for each requirement. Boy Scouts are to complete #1 and #2d requirements on the worksheet prior to coming to class (this may change over time). A sample worksheet with requirements is provided within this packet. Scout leaders/parents should be present per troop to help supervise the boys while staff volunteers present are to help with crowd control and bathroom breaks.
Search for your local Boy Scout council by zip code: Local Council Locator.

Vocabulary:

Boy Scouts of America
The Boy Scouts of America (BSA) is one of the largest youth organizations in the United States, with 2.7 million youth members and over 1 million adult volunteers. Since its founding in 1910 as part of the international Scout Movement, more than 110 million Americans have been members of the BSA. The BSA holds a Congressional charter under Title 36 of the United States Code. The BSA operates traditional Scouting by chartering local organizations, such as churches, clubs, civic associations, or educational organization, to implement the scouting program for youth within their communities. Units are led entirely by volunteers appointed by the chartering organization, who are supported by local councils using both paid Professional Scouters and volunteers. The BSA goal is to train youth in responsible citizenship, character development, and self-reliance through participation in a wide range of outdoor activities, educational programs, and, at older age levels, career-oriented programs in partnership with community organizations (Scouting.org).

Girl Scouts of the USA
The Girl Scouts of the United States of America (GSUSA) is a youth organization for girls in the United States and American girls living abroad. GSUSA aims to empower girls and to help teach values such as honesty, fairness, courage, compassion, character, sisterhood, confidence, and citizenship through activities including camping, community service, learning first aid, and earning badges by acquiring other practical skills. The GSUSA is a member of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS), and has an extensive history of accepting girls from any background. In 1994, the Chronicle of Philanthropy, an industry publication, released the results of the largest study of charitable and non-profit organization popularity and credibility. The study showed that the Girl Scouts was ranked as the 8th "most popular charity/non-profit in America" of over 100 charities researched with 41% of Americans over the age of 12 choosing Love and Like A Lot for the Girl Scouts. It describes itself as "the world's preeminent organization dedicated solely to girls" (Girlscouts.org).

Scoutmaster: will refer to the adult scout leader in charge of a Boy Scout troop.

Boy Scout: a male youth member of a Boy Scout Troop.

Girl Scout: a female youth member of a Girl Scout Troop.

Event Manager: person in charge of setting up and managing the online event. He/she coordinates the scouting troops.

Volunteers: healthcare organization members and faculty.

First-aider: An adult who has taken local Girl Scout council-approved first-aid training from a nationally recognized organization.
Conclusion of First Aid Discovery:

Through utilization and integration of the Boy Scout First Aid Merit Badge Pamphlet, the Girl Scout First Aid Packet, and MeritBadge.info, both Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts are given the opportunity to better their knowledge in the field of First Aid. The First Aid Discovery (FAD) Program bridges the learning needs of the Scouts with the service needs of Healthcare Organizations. As a community service platform, founded locally, FAD has laid the foundation for replication on a National scale. The hope is that healthcare organizations ranging from nursing, pre-nursing, medical, pre-medical, and professional groups will have a positive impact on the lives of thousands of people around the United States. Healthcare organizations have the opportunity to educate local communities in various demographics, and through this, millions of lives can be saved across the nation.
